Information About the AMSF Motorsport Camp

The AMSF Motorsport Camp is designed for young Australians aspiring to compete at the highest levels of motorsport both here in Australia (including at state level) and internationally - note that the newly designed camp will be based on the highly successful CAMS Rising Star Program. The camp will be held at the AIS in Canberra on Monday 5th – Friday 9th April 2010 and will be open to participants who meet a number of broad selection criteria (refer section 2).

The substantial curriculum will focus on improving individual performance for motor sport competitors and will include, but not be limited to, the following topics: nutrition, cardiovascular activity, strength and conditioning, recovery, psychology, media, sponsorship, career planning and competing internationally. The camp will be highly interactive with a number of tools being provided to participants for application away from the AIS. It will also give participants an opportunity to benchmark their performance against previous elite attendees including recent CAMS Rising Stars as well as international drivers. At the conclusion of the camp, participants will be provided with a comprehensive performance report, and be in a position to apply the learning from the camp to increase their performance during the 2010 season and beyond.

The cost of the camp is $2,990 (includes GST), which includes accommodation, use of AIS facilities and all meals at the AIS, as well as all learning materials and camp apparel. A non-refundable deposit of $250 is required to cover upfront expenses. The deposit will not be processed, unless the applicant has met the selection criteria and their participation in the camp has been confirmed. The balance will be payable by Friday 5th March 2010. An invoice will be sent out prior to the camp along with the information pack, which will include a camp itinerary and other relevant information.

Participants will stay on-site at the AIS and will be accompanied by CAMS and AMSF Camp Coordinators at all times throughout the scheduled components of the Program. Participants will receive camp apparel which includes a polo shirt and cargo shorts, training t-shirt and shorts and a cap, which they will receive upon arrive at the AIS.
